Do you want to do some world travel over the holidays or sharpen your spelling skills? The Geography and Spelling Bees are a great place to get there!

The Annual National Geographic Bee and Scripps Howard Spelling Bee are underway! The bees are open to all students from grades 4-8.

The top three students in each competition will receive trophies at the local level during finals held in January.

Please help to get your child excited about geography and spelling! Some key websites are listed above. Your child might be excited to take the 10-question daily quiz on the bee site.

Once the contests are finished, please encourage your children to return to the National Geographic Bee and Spelling Bee sites on a frequent basis between now and the next school year.

The more they become familiar with their world, the easier it will be for them to stay connected to the wonderful world God made. Thank you for helping to promote geography and spelling!
